Valuable Property

FOR SALE.

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE,

That valuable Property known by the name of

Clifton Paper-Mill,

With all the improvements, and 50 acres of Land; most of which is in wood. The mill is an over shot, with a wheel of 20 feet 9 inches, on as constant a stream as any in this part of the country. She is a two vat mill, and every way calculated for that purpose, with two iron presses of the best construction, made by Reynolds and Sharpless, Brandywine Mills, a settling pond of fine water at the mill door, with an excellent pump for conveying the water to the engines, a size kettle, moulds, felts, and every other apparatus for carrying on the Paper-Making business.

The mill house is 50 by 28 feet, two stories high, with a loft—There are also two vat houses, a drying house, and rag house, convenient to the mill, with a barn sheded on each side, sufficient to hold ten horses; a convenient dwelling house (not quite finished) with a kitchen, meat-house, and corn-house; the whole of which has been built within these 4 years past. There is a thriving young orchard of peach and other fruit trees, just beginning to bear.

This property lies within 2½ miles of Dumfries, on tide-water, and within about 84 miles of Alexandria, City of Washington, and G. Town, at which places the manufacturer finds a ready market, and where a large proportion of materials are collected. A water conveyance offers almost at any time, there being several craft which constantly trade to and from the above places. Falmouth and Fredericksburg are within 25 miles: these, with the places above, are sufficient to vend all the manufacture that can be made. The situation of this property must render it a desirable acquisition to any person inclined to engage in this line of business; and particularly so, as the Federal Government is just upon removing to the City of Washington, which must, of course, make the demand still greater. It is deemed unnecessary to say any thing more respecting the premises, as it is presumed any person inclined to purchase would wish to see them. Nothing would induce me to part with this valuable property, but for the pressing demands against those concerned, who are anxious to discharge them; therefore a great bargain may be expected. Any further information required may be known on application to

The Columbian Mirror

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

BOSTON, MAY 16.

The Galen, Capt. Seward arrived yesterday, from London; and brought papers to March 23—The following articles compose the most important of their contents:

STUTGARD, VENTOSE 14, MARCH 5.

We impatiently expect the result of the overtures for peace which have certainly been made by the French Government at different times during the last month, if we may judge from the number of couriers who have successively proceeded to Vienna, both from Strasbourg and the head quarters at Donaueschingen. According to a paper of Upper Suabia, the Minister of his Imperial Majesty has not yet made any reply; according to the Stutgard Gazette, the negociations have been definitively broken off; some private letters say that Austria has refused to make peace but in concert with England. —A German Print quotes on the other hand, a bulletin of Vienna of the 22d, which announces that negociations will be opened without delay.

LONDON, MARCH 17.

If it be true that the Emperor of Germany is so seriously ill as to make his life dispaired of, it forms a crisis particularly interesting to the politics of Europe, at this remarkable period. It must necessarily influence the Cabinet of Vienna in the negociation which is now pending with the French Republic, since it is most material to the House of Austria, that they should not have their dispute for territory to clash with the contest they will have to undergo for the succession to the dignity of Emperor. The succession is not yet fixed. The king of the Romans is not appointed; and the progress of the French Revolution has made such changes in the Germanic Body as would make the election extremely hazardous. It is believed that the interest of the King of Prussia would prevail over that of every other Candidate. This is not all. The death of the Emperor would give rise, perhaps, from the various and contending interests of the hereditary dominions, to a double regency, in one of which the Empress would have the sway, and in another the Arch Duke Charles. These possible difficulties are likely to induce the Cabinet of Vienna to listen in the present moment to the propositions of Buonaparte, with a view, by accepting of the terms which he offers, to secure his friendship in favor of the party which have now the power, and which, in the event of the decease of the Emperor, may require his aid. It is by no means improbable, therefore, that the negociation between the French and Austrians will be speedily brought to an amicable conclusion.

(Morning Chronicle.)

MARCH 21.

Mr. Sitgreaves, one of the American Commissioners for settling the claims under the Treaty between this country and the United States, arrived in England a few days ago, to make representations to our government, and to state and explain the difficulties which have arisen upon the subject.

HAMBURG, MARCH 14.

Hostilities had not on the ninth instant commenced on the Rhine, and the armies in Italy continue near inactive—Buonaparte labours to detach Austria from the Coalition, and seeks to open a protected negociation; but a vast variety of circumstances concur to impress a belief that the Emperor will resist his overtures, and prosecute the war.

On the 4th inst. gen. Kray left Vienna to proceed to the Head Quarters at Donaueschingen. The Archduke, it is apprehended, will be obliged by illness to retire.

A general attack upon Genoa by sea and land, was to have taken place on the 25th ult. but was delayed in consequence, it is said, of propositions having been made by the French commandant to General Ott, for its evacuation. Thirty Communities in the Valley have risen against the French, and aided the advance of the Austrians. At Fontano Bibia, the Republicans were beaten by the Insurgents, with the loss of 600 men; and at Chiavari and Rapallo, they amounted to 8000 men.

Switzerland is the scene of intestine commotion, and menaced by the imperialists in each direction. A strong column on the 24th ult. was on its march from the Milanese for the South of Helvetia, where the French were assembled in force In the Grison and Voralberg countries the Austrians amount to 30,000.

A serious mutiny took place amongst the French troops at Zurich, on the 25th ult. in consequence of their pay being so much in arrear that they were destitute of almost every necessary. They assembled in the square before the guard house;—gen. Lecourbe addressed them, and at length ordered them to wheel and march. He repeated his order; they twice refused; he rushed amidst the mutineers, and cut two of them down. Their associates pointed their bayonets; he demanded if they were assassins? they paused and at length obeyed his orders. On their return to their barracks, he placed a strong guard over them for 24 hours.

In Switzerland, every man from the age of 18 to 40 must bear arms.

Some trivial skirmishes have taken place in the neighborhood of Friburgh.

It is stated that the Prince of Hesse Phillipsthal has joined the Austrian army with 10,000 Neapolitan troops, of whom 4000 are cavalry.

Letters from Suabia state that a violent cannonade was heard on the 24th ult. at Kempton, Ravensburg, and other places, Bergens, Feldkirch, and the Grison country. The French are said to have attempted to pass the Rhine near Chur, and the Austrian troops in that quarter broke up to oppose them.

Gen. Moreau was at Mentz on the 8th, and on the following day was to proceed with his Staff to inspect the positions of his army as far as Coblentz.

Gen. Massena is reported to be making every preparation to open the campaign.

The Austrians have opened their trenches before Gavi.

Some disputes have arisen between the Austrian and Russian troops at Ancona.

The vigour of the warlike preparations making in the Imperial Hereditary Dominions exceeds any thing hitherto known. —Hungary has offered 26,000 recruits, and in case of need, as many cavalry.

The French begin to be in motion in the south of Switzerland, and they have got considerable reinforcements at Nice and Genoa. Gen. Klenau, in a reconnoitering party, cut off and made prisoners of a strong French detachment.

General Lavalettee, Adjutant General to Buonaparte, on the 14th inst. passed through the Head-quarters of the Archduke with dispatches to Vienna.

Amongst the different proposals of peace made by Buonaparte to the Emperor, he offered to withdraw the French from Italy and proposed the Rhine as the boundary of France.

It is said that Prussia is busily employed in bringing about a peace between England and France, by which the security of future treaties might be warranted, by the union of Holland with the Imperial Netherlands under the Stadtholder, and the restoration of Switzerland.

NEW-YORK, MAY 21.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

By the Trio, from Greenock, we have been favoured with papers to the 29th of March, and London dates to the 26th. Extracts follow:—

GLASGOW, MARCH 27.

The intelligence from Egypt, by way of Constantinople, confirms the accounts of the capture of El Arisch, where the French troops were nearly put to the sword by the Turks; and letters from Vienna state, that general Kleber had been defeated a second time, near Alexandria, and compelled with the remnant of his army to surrender at discretion.

MARCH 29.

Paris papers till the 20th instant, were received on Wednesday. It would appear from a postscript to a Genoese gazette of the 1st March, that hostilities have recommenced in Italy, in the environs of Genoa. An article from Leghorn states, that Klenau was advancing rapidly against Genoa, followed by general Ott's corps of 20,000 men, and seconded by the insurgents of Fontannaboona.

The campaign has not yet commenced on the Rhine. The Russian troops, under the command of general Lasey, have quitted their cantonments in Wolhinia, and are to be embarked.

Tuesday's gazette contains accounts of the capture of five large privateers.

LONDON, MARCH 24.

FROM EGYPT.

The particulars of the capture of the important port of El Arisch, in Syria, by the Turks, are thus given on official authority:

The Turks were led by British officers, and must have fought bravely, having lost 1500 men in storming this fortress, which Buonaparte himself considered as the key of Egypt. This fully accounts for the obstinate resistance made by the French, of whom only 150 men have been saved, being made prisoners, from a garrison of 2000 men. Immediately after this defeat the French general Kleber offered to the grand vizer to capitulate, merely desiring the free departure of the rest of the French army. The grand vizer thinking this to be the safest way, and not wishing farther to risk his glory, consented, to that proposal, as it would fully answer the views of the Porte, to which the taking of the remaining 7 or 8000 French troops would prove of little service, and might besides be the cause of much bloodshed.

We believe the particulars of this important intelligence were brought to government on Saturday by M. Melvitz, who left Constantinople so late as the 21st of February.

Not a syllable appears in any of the letters brought by these mails, respecting the reported indisposition of the emperor of Germany, neither is the king of Denmark dead, as asserted in the French papers which arrived the week before last.

RUSSIANS.

All the accounts agree that the Russians are advancing in very formidable force towards the shores of the Baltic, where as soon as the weather breaks, an army will embark for Britain.

A treaty has been concluded between the emperor Paul and the king of Sweden which tends evidently to draw the latter into the war against France—In which case it will be impossible for Denmark any longer to remain neuter.

MARCH 26.

We this morning received Paris papers to the 21st instant, one day later than those which arrived on Saturday. A proclamation of the first consul was delivered to the legislative body, by which the sittings of that body were prorogued from the 22d March to the 1st April.

We have great satisfaction in informing our readers that our private letters from Germany, as well as the public accounts, all agree in representing the answer given by the Court of Vienna, to the overture made by Buonaparte, as conformable in all respects to that which was returned by our ministers. It appears that on the same day on which a separate peace was proposed to the king of Great Britain, a separate peace was proposed to the Emperor of Germany. Both have objected to a separate peace, and both have stated in answer to the communication, that the disposition of the chief consul, and his power to act up to that disposition (whatever it might be) must be judged of, not by professions, but by experience.

Rumor, however, states, that fresh overtures have been made to the court of Vienna by Buonaparte, and we are even told, that the British government is in expectation of another courier from Paris.

The combined French and Spanish fleets remained snug in Brest harbour on Thursday last.

The first remittance of the subsidy to the Emperor was made by the Hamburg mail of last night. The arrangements between the courts of London and Vienna are completed.

Sir Alan Gardner, with 7 ships of the line and two frigates, part of the channel fleet, has put into Plymouth to revictual.

A letter from Leghorn of February 3 says "that from the 24th to the 30th of January, 55 merchant vessels have arrived here, among which there are 3 Genoese polacres, captured by la Mutine British brig, one laden with wine, tobacco, and lead; the other two with wine and corn. The American ship Boston, capt. Freeman, with sugar, coffee, and dyer's wood. The American ship Camilla, capt. Holmes, from Boston, with sugar, coffee, pepper, campeachy, and ebony wood. The Betina, capt. White, from Philadelphia, with sugar, cocoa, and stockfish. The Minerva, captain Natale, British, from Tunis, with corn, buckwheat, barley, and wax; this ship had been taken by a French privateer, and retaken by the British ship of war Thunderer.

The great commercial house of Boyd, Benfield and Co. have at length been declared bankrupts in the gazette. Previous thereto, government last week issued an extent against all property that could be found. The amount of its debt is 160,000 pounds, of which 100,000l. is for monies which it had advanced for a remittance which the house of Boyd and Co. was to have sent to the Cape of Good Hope; and 50,000l. which was advanced on Mr. Benfield's bills, on persons in India, which came back protested. It is believed that Mr. Benfield's effects in India will be equal to answer this deficiency.

TREATY

BETWEEN RUSSIA & SWEDEN.

Extract of the treaty of friendship and union between the king of Sweden on the one part, and the emperor of all the Russias on the other part, concluded at Gatschina, on the 27th of October, 1799 ratified at Stockholm on the 30th of November, and at Gatschina on the 15th of December, in the same year.

I. The two contracting parties guarantee mutually to each other all their states, countries and provinces in Europe.

II. Their majesties the king of Sweden & the emperor of all the Russias, shall maintain the most intimate correspondence and advise each other promptly and faithfully of any exterior injury or trouble, with which the states, &c. of either of the contracting parties may be menaced, and shall employ in time the most efficacious measures either to prevent them, or to repair the consequences.

III. If, contrary to all expectation, it should happen that one of the contracting parties should be attacked in his European possessions, the other as soon as it shall have been required, shall employ his good offices to put an end to hostilities. In case these representations should not succeed, there shall be furnished on demand, a stipulated number of troops as follows, viz. his Swedish majesty shall furnish 8000 infantry and 2000 cavalry, or dragoons, at the choice of the party called upon; six sail of the line, from 60 to 70 guns, and two frigates of 30 guns each. On the part of his majesty the emperor of all the Russias, there shall be furnished to his ally 12000 infantry and 4000 cavalry, or dragoons, at the convenience of the party called upon, nine vessels of the line, from 60 to 70 guns, and three frigates of 30 each.

IV. If the succors stipulated by the present treaty should not be found sufficient for the defence of that one of the contracting parties which shall be attacked, the other, after a previous agreement, shall assist with a greater number of troops and vessels, if permitted so to do by his own situation.

V. This alliance to be in force for eight years.

(These are followed by some other articles of slight importance.)

TREATY

BETWEEN RUSSIA AND PORTUGAL.

The treaty of defensive alliance between Russia and Portugal was signed at Petersburg the 21st September 1799 The two contracting powers mutually guarantee their object is not to do wrong to any power, but to contribute to their mutual benefit and security, and to be the re-establishment of peace in Europe. It is stipulated that on the requisition of either of the two powers attacked in their possessions, Russia is at first to furnish 6000 infantry; and that Portugal on the other hand, is to furnish to Russia a squadron of 6 ships of war, five from 64 to 74, and a frigate of 32 or 40. The aid may be furnished in money at the opinion of the party requiring. The auxiliary squadron of Portugal shall always be employed conjointly with the Russian squadron, or with those of their ally the king of Great Britain. If the aids to be furnished by this treaty are not sufficient, the contracting parties may agree upon further assistance. The party requiring shall not make peace or truce with the common enemy without including the other

"The diſtreſſes of our ſouthern frontiers, (ſays Bowles) it appears by the following letter, has received further ſupplies from his opponents. We are happy, however, to find that from the vigilance of Spaniards, they will be of little avail to the Muſkogee general.

Auguſta, May 7, 1800.

We learn from captain John M'Allifter, who arrived here on Monday laſt, that previous to his leaving Greeneſborough, a gentleman of reſpectability had arrived there from the Creek nation, who informed that runners had been ſent to colonel Hawkins, with information that another veſſel loaded with arms, ammunition and cloathing, had been ſent from New-Providence to Auguſtus G. Bowles, that it had been ran aſhore near where Bowles and ſome Indians were fiſhing, but that being cloſely purſued by three Spaniſh veſſels only ſix kegs of powder, a few arms, and twenty men could be got aſhore, before the Spaniards took poſſeſſion of her. Conſiderable murmuring and diſturbance it is ſaid, was excited among the Lower Creeks, when informed by Bowles of the capture of their goods by the Spaniards.

SUMMARY

Of late foreign News, from the Boſton Centinel.

Since our laſt the ſhip Galen, captain Seward, has arrived here from London—Our files of London papers are to the 23d March; a few days later than before received in the United States.

On the 22d March five of the delayed mails from Hamburgh, arrived at London. Their contents are not very important, but they bear indications of a negociation for peace between the Emperor of Germany, and the Prime Conſul of France. These indications appear in the continual interchange of couriers, and communications between the two cabinets—in the propoſition which Buonaparte has made to withdraw all his troops from Italy, and make the Rhine the boundaries of the Republic—in the inactivity, or mere parade of warlike preparation, which prevails in both armies—and it is added, in the precarious ſituation in which Auſtria finds itſelf from the rapidly declining health of the Emperor; and from the neceſſity it will be under to require the aſſiſtance of France in preventing, in caſe of the death of the Emperor, the king of Pruſſia being elected king of the Romans; and conſequently the Imperial diadem from being transferred to the houſe of Brandenbourg. It is a fact that one of Buonaparte's principal Generals remained at the Auſtrian head quarters ſeveral days, perfectly at liberty;—and that French officers of rank are frequently paſſing through thoſe head quarters from Paris to Vienna, and back.—Either Prince Charles does not expect a renewal of hoſtilities, or he has no naked ſcarts which he fears ſhould be expoſed.—Even the Britiſh government writers admit the poſſibility of the report reſpecting this negociation to be well founded; and later they can ſee nothing in it alarming to Great Britain; as ſhe will be able to command a better peace when ſtanding alone than when compelled to ſacrifice its conqueſts to the intereſts of others.

The Auſtrian army is in great force, exceeding 150,000 troops, plentifully ſupplied and well paid. The health of the archduke has made it neceſſary for him to repair to Tophitz.—Gen. Kray commands in chief in his abſence.

In Italy, it is ſaid, the French garriſon of Genoa has made propoſitions to Gen. Ott, to evacuate the place. The Auſtrians are in force in the neighborhood of Genoa; and have opened their trenches before Gavi.

The Ruſſian troops have poſitively returned home; and the Emperor of Ruſſia has officially notified the Courts of Berlin and Dreſden thereof. It is, however, ſtill maintained that 45,000 of thoſe iron cafed veterans will be employed by Great Britain, in enterprizes and expeditions.

Several accounts mention a negociation between the Grand Vizier and Gen. Kleber in Egypt for the evacuation of that country by the French.

An expedition, in which 17 battalions of Engliſh troops were to be employed, beſides Ruſſians, was in readineſs to ſail, when the Galen left England. It is commanded by general Stuart. Its deſtination is ſuppoſed to be Malta; and, when reinforced, Egypt.

We do not learn any particulars of the progreſs of the negociation at Paris. Our Envoys we find, attended the Funeral Eulogy pronounced at the Pantheon, in honor of WASHINGTON.

In Ireland, ſtrong ſymptoms of rebellion have re appeared in ſeveral counties; a new "Rebellion Bill" has paſſed the Iriſh Parliament; and large bodies of troops were embarking in England for Ireland. The buſineſs of the Union is generally ſettled:—but the bill was to receive the ſanction of the Britiſh Parliament.

FROM A LONDON PAPER.

A. VON KOTZEBUE,

The celebrated dramatiſt, who was Director of the National Theatre at Vienna, was reported (Oct. 2798) by ſome German newſpapers to have been confined on a charge of treaſonable language and democratic principles. Soon after the circulation of this report, the following paragraph appeared in the Vienna Court Gazette:—"His Majeſty has been pleaſed to diſmiſs A. Von Kotzebue, upon his own requiſition, on account of ill health, and to grant him a penſion of one thouſand guilders (about 90l. ſterling) permitting him to live any where out of his hereditary eſtates." It is reported that he is appointed Director and Compoſer of the Theatre at Frankfort on the Main, with a ſalary of 3600 guilders. F. G. Von Reitzer and a Mr. Von Elchrich are his ſucceſſors at Vienna.

MADEMOISELLE CLAIRON,

A French actreſs, for many years fancied herſelf haunted by the ghoſt of a deceaſed lover, to whom ſhe had proved unfaithful. Among all the ghoſts with which our theatres are troubled, we have not heard of this ſpecies of ſpectres troubling our actreſſes."

CHARLESTON, MAY 14.

Captain Atkins, who arrived on Monday from the Havanna, informs, that the day before he left that port, two privateer ſchooners, belonging to New Providence, of 14 and 10 guns, were brought in there by a king's brig which was from la Vera Cruz. The brig had on board 400,000 dollars in ſpecie. The privateers fell in with her to the weſtward of Cape Antonio; the captain of the brig endeavored to avoid them, but finding this impoſſible he made ready for action. The battle laſted two hours and a half, during which the privateers made ſeveral attempts to board, which did not ſucceed.—One of the Engliſh captains was killed, and a large proportion of the crew. The Spaniſh brig mounted 16 guns, twelve pounders. One of the privateers is called the Eagle; the name of the other, captain Atkins does not recollect.

BOSTON, MAY 19.

Yeſterday arrived in this port, the United States brig, Pickering, Lieut. Benjamin Hillar, Eſq. commander. On anchoring ſhe fired a federal ſalute. We are happy in announcing the ſafe arrival of this veſſel and her numerous convoy, who have principally arrived in this, and the other ports of the U. States. The greateſt praiſe is due to this enterpriſing commander, both for his vigilance in protecting the convoys under his care, in ſcourging the ſpoliators of our commerce, and in the excellent management and diſcipline of the ſhip and crew under his command. The crew, without the exception of an individual, are all returned in perfect health.

A French privateer, of 10 guns captured ſome time ſince by this fortunate veſſel, failed in company, and was parted with by the Pickering a few days ſince.

NEW-YORK MAY 21.

Capt. Whitemore, who arrived here yeſterday from Liſbon, informs, that the American Conſul told him the morning he ſailed, that the Spaniards had joined the French, and marched 30,000 men againſt Portugal.

It was reported juſt as the Trio ſailed, that an Engliſh frigate had been carried into France by the crew.

A Britiſh packet with diſpatches, arrived at Liſbon the day capt. W. ſailed; but no news had tranſpired.

Yeſterday arrived here from Cape Francois the ſchr. Juno, of Portland, a prize to the United States frigate Gen Greene.—She had been captured by a French corvette, and re-captured on the 3d ult. The Juno has on board ſeveral diſabled ſeamen from the Conſtitution.

Extract of a letter, dated Cape Francois, 18th April, 1800

"Every kind of buſineſs at this place is at an entire ſtand, the houſes and ſtores are all ſhut up, and the people under arms out of town—this is in conſequence of a miſunderſtanding between Touſſaint and the agent from France. Touſſaint is at preſent abſent, having lately taken Jaquemel from Rigaud, where almoſt every perſon was put to death.

Extract from an Advertiſement prefixed to the Diſcourſe.

"That the benefaction of that great man (Gen. Waſhington) to the Academy of Alexandria ſhould, in ſo ſhort a time, have reared up a young man capable of emulating the beſt diſcourſes delivered on that day, muſt give pleaſure to all friends to merit and unprotected Genius—The citizens of Alexandria, for whoſe immediate benefit it was created, muſt feel in a particular manner. They are all acquainted with the narrow circumſtances of the Parents of the Author of the following Sermon, and know what muſt have been his ſituation, but for ſuch an inſtitution. acres of Land adjoining, ſituated on Broad Run, in Prince William County, below Buckland. The mill-houſe is two ſtories high, and has two pair of ſtones in it. The mill has been rented for ſeveral years, but having been conveyed to a gentleman in Philadelphia, has not been attended to; conſequently it is probable that it is not in the beſt order. It rented, however, for the laſt two years, with ſome of the land, at about 80l. per year. The land will be ſold with the mill. One third of the purchaſe-money will be required in hand, and the other two thirds in annual inſtallments.
